DISCOVER THE DIFFERENCE IN ONLINE LEARNING

A Criminal Justice degree with your schedule in mind

The Bachelor of Arts in Criminal Justice with a specialization in Legal Studies is specifically designed to provide students with an understanding of legal considerations within the three areas of the criminal justice system: police, courts, and corrections.

Dominican College's online criminal justice program was developed utilizing the same philosophy, principles and goals that have governed the existing traditional program since its inception in 2008: provide students with the tools they need to understand the complexity of the criminal justice system while promoting personal growth and skills for future success. The program offers students a fully online experience without compromise. The major requires a variety of courses pertaining to the essential elements of criminal justice as well as a thorough comprehension of relevant theoretical perspectives and methodological approaches used to explore criminal behavior and its various permutations.

Program Requirements:

The program requires 48 credits in the criminal justice core and the additional general education credits, all of which are completed with eight-week sessions. A final capstone course is completed in the final semester where the student is expected to demonstrate significant competence in the discipline of criminal justice by preparing, presenting and submitting a research project on a self-selected, instructor-approved topic central to the field.

Admissions

To be considered for admission to an undergraduate program, you must provide the following:
