BUS.STUD.ENTR.AAS
CIP 520101

Business Studies, a career and non-transferable degree program, provides opportunities for students to prepare for a wide variety of careers in business.

PROGRAM OUTCOMES

- Use effective verbal and written communication in conducting business;
- Analyze/resolve problems common to entry-level business positions;
- Apply management skills in a variety of business functions;
- Comprehend how the global economy and international events affect domestic and international business decisions;
- Understand basic accounting statements and their role in managing a business;
- Identify unethical behavior in a business setting and formulate appropriate action.

Students have the option of concentrating in Management or Entrepreneurship, each concentration comprised of 15 credits and designed to prepare students for specialty areas. Students may also choose to pursue a more general degree in Business Studies without a concentration. Students should contact the program coordinator for advisement.

Students may study full-time or part-time. Admission to the Business Studies program requires a high school diploma.

Business Studies students interested in pursuing bachelor's degree studies in labor or management should consider the Rutgers School of Labor and Management program on the MCCC campus.

The Management concentration (BUS.STUD.MGMT.AAS) prepares students for positions as general office managers, retail sales managers, or supervisors in mid-to large-sized firms. Students focus their degree based on individual professional needs. In addition to the competencies gained from the general Business Studies program, students completing this concentration will be able to (depending on electives chosen):

PROGRAM OUTCOMES

- Understand the laws affecting the domestic business environment;
- Apply the basic principles of marketing to business;
- Apply a better understanding of the customer's behavior in improving sales management;
- Lead and/or manage an organization's human resources on both an individual and team level to maximize workforce effectiveness.

The Entrepreneurship concentration (BUS.STUD.ENTR.AAS) prepares students to own a small business. Students interested in forming their own enterprise, taking on a franchise, or purchasing an existing small business would benefit from this concentration. In addition to the competencies gained from the general Business Studies program, students completing this concentration will be able to (depending on electives chosen):

PROGRAM OUTCOMES

- Understand the path and resources necessary to obtain small business ownership;
 - Understand the environment in which small business operates and develop the skills necessary to manage the marketing, human resources, accounting (including software applications), and finance functions within that environment;
 - Understand the laws affecting domestic small business;
 - Develop a business plan for a proposed entrepreneurial venture.
