Mission Statement

Montessori Teacher Training Institute of Mercer County Community College (MTTI) would like to see that all children ranging in age from 2½ to 6 years old in the Central New Jersey region will have a reasonable opportunity to receive an authentic Montessori education. To that end, MTTI provides a teacher training program that will eventually certify enough teachers to reach a wide cross-section of the area’s population. The program will be offered at a reasonable fee and during evenings and weekends to encourage parents and teaching assistants to attend, as well as child care professionals. The goals of this two-year program are to facilitate an interest in learning how to educate children during their sensitive period for development and to prepare future educators to meet the many needs of young learners in this new millennium. The program focuses on the study of the Montessori philosophy, child development, use of the Montessori didactic materials, classroom management, observation and record keeping, peace education and the complete Montessori Curriculum, based on the American Montessori Society (AMS) Philosophy for Teacher Education Program Models. Maria Montessori’s methods for educating children are timeless and have proven to be a successful way of preparing the children of today for tomorrow.

Who Should Attend

* Montessori teachers or assistant teachers who do not have certificate.
* Teachers and educators who wish to learn (and receive a certificate in) the Montessori method.
* Those considering a career in Montessori education with opportunities in every state and throughout the world.
* Parents or other individuals who wish to further their understanding of child development and successful alternative teaching methods.

The Early Childhood Environment Philosophy and Goals

A Montessori Early Childhood environment is described as a setting for children ages 2½ through 6 years. The environment reflects these characteristics:

a. Curriculum materials are organized by curriculum area or function (logical groupings).
b. Within each grouping, the materials are arranged by level of difficulty or sequence of skill and concept of development (logical arrangement).
c. Furnishings are of appropriate size for the children.
d. The arrangement of furnishing allows for activities that are by individual or group, on floor or table, noisy or quiet, and active or sedentary (variety of activity spaces).
e. Activity spaces and procedures are organized so that a noise-generating activity is far away or isolated from a quiet one (avoid conflict of interest).
f. There is a provision for display of visual stimuli and children’s work products.
g. Each activity or exercise is organized to provide purpose, procedure, closure, and opportunity for child success.
h. The environment includes/offers materials which encourage the full development of each child’s potential. Areas include:
   a. Concentration, the ability to maintain a sustained focus
   b. Observation skills
   c. Large and small muscle coordination
   d. The acquisition of practical skills relevant to care of self and environment
   e. Perceptual awareness and discrimination—in all sensory domains
f. Concepts basic to the understanding of quantitative relationships (e.g. one-to-one correspondence, the ability to recognize and identify the attributes of objects, class inclusion, equivalence, number, numeration, place value, arithmetical operations)
g. Experiences basic to participating in multiple language communities, including experiences in listening, talking, writing, reading, and thinking
h. Experience in self-expression through the visual arts, music, movement, and drama
i. Experiences leading to an understanding of nature and the physical universe
j. Experiences leading to an understanding of the social sciences
k. Experiences with critical thinking skills and problem-solving techniques: questioning, experimentation, and hypothesis development
i. The particular materials/activities selected are appropriate to the developmental period, abilities, and special needs of the children who use the environment.

The environment reflects the influence of these adult behaviors:
A) Preparation of a clean, orderly environment
B) Demonstration and encouragement of care and precision in movement, and the organization and use of materials and equipment
C) Encouragement of a child’s selection of activity
D) Encouragement of a child’s participation in maintaining the environment
E) Demonstration of strategies for use of materials
F) Acknowledgment of and provision for expression of a child’s social needs
G) Acknowledgment and responsiveness to a child’s emotional needs
H) Acknowledgment and responsiveness to a child’s self-expression
I) Ongoing monitoring and overview of the environment (observation)
J) Communicating rules and procedures appropriate to the situation
K) Modeling and facilitating pro-social behavior
L) Modeling and facilitating positive techniques for conflict resolution
M) Modeling and facilitating egalitarian interaction
N) Providing effective leadership in group activities
O) Communication and coordinating activities with team members

As a community college faculty, we believe that...

our students deserve a high-quality education that challenges them to acquire new knowledge and skills, test their accustomed ideas, and achieve competitive excellence. All of our students, regardless of where they find themselves when they come to us, deserve a caring, creative, and engaged pedagogy that helps them achieve their goals, and which cultivates lifelong learning and a passion to understand themselves and the world. We believe that we must create a college community that engages students in civic life and prepares them to fully participate in our democracy. We are responsible and accountable for giving our students’ work our respect and critical evaluation, for holding students to the highest ethical standards, and for providing effective feedback that encourages our students to grow.

We will challenge our students to take the risks associated with change and growth, and encourage them to take advantage of campus services and other opportunities for continued academic success. We will not tolerate breaches of academic integrity. We will confront incivility and bigotry if we encounter it, ensuring a respectful and vibrant college culture. Our professional practices will assess our students’ and our own accomplishments. Finally, we will work to live up to our own ideals by maintaining high standards of professionalism, nurturing our own learning, and embodying for our students the value of the life of the mind in the adventure of full participation in our democracy.
