

Lecture

Plants with Attitude!

Bruce Crawford, Director, Rutgers Gardens

Mr. Crawford will talk about the breeding program at the award-winning Rutgers Gardens, a nationally-renowned botanical complex, and how the future of horticulture is grounded in the past. His presentation, which will include beautiful images from Rutgers Gardens, also will also include a discussion of how plants are selected based on their historical, scientific, environmental, and aesthetic values. The extensive gardens include ornamental tree, holly, and shade tree collections; a tribute, display, pollinator, rain, water conservation, and rhododendron and azalea gardens, and a bamboo forest, among others.

Wednesday, Feb. 14, 2018

6:00 PM – Pizza, 6:30 PM - Program

Mercer County Community College

Student Center/Welcome Center, Room SC 104 (first floor)

Use Hughes Drive Entrance - Park in Student Center (Welcome Center) Lot – The Lot Entrance Arm will be Up

Please RSVP to: Kipatthesierraclub@gmail.com

Students Welcome. Free.

