

WEST WINDSOR

Isles founder to speak on ecological issues

Martin Johnson, founder and president of Isles, Inc., a nationally recognized nonprofit community development and environmental organization based in Trenton, will present “Rethinking Environmentalism” at Mercer County Community College on April 21, noon.

Speaking the day before Earth Day 2010, Johnson will discuss the impact of climate change on cities and suburbs and other ecological issues facing the planet. This free community lecture takes place in Communications Building, CM 109, on MCCC's West Windsor Campus, 1200 Old Trenton Road.

Isle's mission is to foster more self-reliant families in healthy, sustainable communities. For more information visit: mccc.edu/events.

