

Top Ladies of Distinction to honor 'heroes, heroines'

TRENTON — The Trenton Chapter of the Top Ladies of Distinction Inc. will have its 31st annual Recognition Luncheon at noon Saturday at Roman Hall, 100 Whittaker Ave.

This year's "heroes and heroines" for the community service they have rendered are Eleanor Horne, vice president of Educational Testing Service Social Investment Fund; Edward W. Frederick, a longtime employee of Mercer County Community College's James Kerney and West Windsor campuses and one of the college's community liaisons; Erick Jackson, director of Trenton Public Works and co-founder of the Gladys Jackson Scholarship Award; and Glen and Leslie West, owners of Patterson and Superior Chevrolet of Mercer County who have participated in and donated to many community projects.

Beverly T. Hill

Also, Beverly T. Hill will be named Top Lady of the Year. Hill taught in the Trenton public schools for 37 years and was named Teacher of the Year in 1989 by the school district. Since retirement, she has become active with volunteer work in her church, the Greater Mt. Zion AME Church of Trenton.

Tickets for the luncheon are $35. For reservations, call (609) 394-7963.
