September 8, 9, & 10, 2009

0930 – 1700 Hrs.

$1195 for TWO OFFICERS/$695 for ONE OFFICER

Location: Mercer County Range

Course description: This course focuses on two crucial elements: (1) to enhance and optimize the individual officer's ability to effectively survive, dominate, and neutralize a deadly threat during a violent deadly force engagement under stress; (2) to enhance and optimize the officer's ability to effectively respond to and terminate an Active Shooter attack in minimal time with minimal loss of civilian lives. This course will educate officers on the real outcomes that occur during an urban Terror oriented Active Shooter attack and provide them with the necessary mindset, knowledge, and tactics to rapidly assess, dominate, and resolve the incident. Specifically, this course will focus on Immediate Rapid Deployment strategies for Active Shooter Attacks which require immediate action with minimal availability of back-up, resources, and specialized equipment in a civilian populated environment such as a school, shopping mall, hospital, office building, or an airport. This response system is effectively applicable to an Active Shooter Attack of a Terror oriented threat or a criminal/mentally/emotionally disturbed oriented threat. Some of the topics covered in this course include; Counter-terror shooting for the handgun and submachine gun/Assault Rifle, differences between engaging a criminal and a terrorist, controlling and dominating a violent deadly force engagement, threat identification under stress, engaging an armed terrorist in a crowded environment, building and room entry and take-over tactics for one, two, three, and four man response, and active shooter response involving hostages.

Required: semiautomatic handgun with 2 magazines (min.), duty holster, submachine or long-gun with duty sling and 2 magazines (min.) Tactical oriented comfortable dress (tactical pants, t-shirt, and tactical boots), Range safety gear, knee pads (recommended)
